THUR-DAY, : : APRIL 13, 1876. "THE DO NOTHING CONGRESS." When Jupiter was born, the Cuvites danced about him, clashing their arms to prevent his cries from reaching the ears of the devouring Saturn. The Radicals in and out of congress are imitatiog this example. The Democratic Saturns are unearthing the corruptions o' the Radicals, and the guilty culprits hope to divert public attention by making a terrible racket about the do-nothing congress. It required great labor on the part of Hercules to cleanse the Augean stable, and it will take several months for the Democratic party to nose out and expose the Radical corruptions committed during the past ten years. The investigations and exposures already made will save millions to the g wernment, as they have alarmed the thiever, and the fear of de'ection will cose the flood-gates of corruption. When the various committees make their reports, it will be seen that the Democratic house of representatives has been as busy as spring bees and autumn beavers. The members are working zealously. Tennessee never had more faithful men in congrees than Casey Young, Adkins, Whitthorne and Bright. Always kins, Whitthorne and Bright. Always spirit of fairness or good will to the Riv-in their seals or in the committee rooms, eraide club. The managers of the Memthey are found in the faithful discharge | phis club, who arranged the game, were of their duties. The same may be said of every Democratic member. Indeed. it may be said that instead of being "a all complimentary to some good playdo-nothing" body no house of represent- ers engaged. That the Riverside made atives for twenty years has accomplished errors in this, their first game of the seamore in the same length of time. The the interest and improvement of the Baltimore Gazette shows what the Dem- game, give credit, and not undue disocrats have done, as follows: "The appropriation committee, under the leadership of Mr. Randall, has examined into every source of expenditure of the stood, and still understand, that eight government, and no one not familiar out of the nine, if not all those who were with legislation, and few of those who are, can have any idea of what a stupendous labor that is. In the appropriation bills that have been passed by the house millions of dollars have been saved to the public treasury, and in the bills, upon which no legislative action has yet been taken, but which have been considered in committee, additional millions will be rescued from the control of the administration. To be sure it will require the assent of the senate and of the President to give these reforms the effect of law, but the house will have done its duty in pointing out the way to reform and retranchment, should, for nearly one month, seemingly Mr. Morrison, the chairman of the ways forget her faithful friend, constant and means committee, presented a bill, and his committee is now considering it, which, if passed, will do more to relieve the business of the country than any bill which has pas ed congress since the Republican party came into power. It is a direct blow at the outrageous, swindling tariff which, taken all in all, is the most monstrous conglomeration of legislative fraud, corruption and rascality that disgraces the statute books of any civilized country. All the rings and ring men who have been preying upon the country since 1861 are up in arms against this bill, and all their organs from Maine precious Adonis! So thrilled, captito Florida and from New York to San vated, rapt, entranced, transported and Francisco denounce it as unwiss, foolish and impolitic. OUR MANUFACTURES IN ENGLAND. When, a few weeks since, it was announced that goods manufactured in America were superior to English goods, and could be sold at a profit in Europe, many ridiculed the idea, regarding it as absurdly preposterous. But the facts indicate that many of the cotton factories in England will be removed not only to America but to the south. It has been demonstrated that cotton which has never been baled or compressed makes superior cloth, and this fact of itself will ultimately make the south a manufacturing people. It is only two months since that American prints were sent to the very heart of the English market, and sold there in large quantities. The movement was one that fairly astounded the English print makers. They could not exactly comprehend its meaning, but after a little while the simple fact forced conviction | ing United States bonds, and on them into their heads, and now they are asking each other Boss Tweed's famous conundrum, "What are you going to do about it?" Thus far there has been no satisfactory answer, as the Fall river men continue pouring in their surplus stock, and the English people are so much better pleased with the styles and quality than with the goods made nearer home that they are willing to pay a penny or two a yard more for them. Beside this gratifying information the talk now is, that one of the may be seen and action had now, most extensive of the Sheffleld, England, cutlery factories is to be transferred bodily to this country. The cause assigned for this remarkable move is the fact that our American cutlery manufacturers are becoming such experts that they are beginning to contest the hifherto almost undisputed supremacy of the English in this branch of industry. The importations from Sheffield for the first quarter of the present year have fallen off more than a million and a

Base Ball. EDITORS APPRAL-In Tuesday morning's APPEAL sppears an article regarding the base-ball game last Sunday, which, to say the least, shows little requested to put a strong nine in the field. To acknowledge their weakness after the game has been played is not at paragement, to other clubs, and expect at least common courtesy from the press. Having been requested to make out the score, I did it as then underengaged, belong to the Mamphia baseball club. That the merits of both clubs may be tested, we have this day challenged the Memphis club for a game of base ball, at their park on next Friday

EX MEMBER. Communicated Views of Quarles. EDITORS APPEAL-Shall a representalive republican government be continued, or is the United States government, as thus formed, to be changed to consolidation, which means a government for oppression of the many for the few? These are questions most vital to every sovereign citizen, since it is plainly observable to every reader of the prints of the day; and seeing full well that both parties are at sea, or locompetent to meet the great issue by reason of divisions in them—fearing it may be loss of position—still party lines are rigidly drawn, one against the other, by partisans, traitors and demagogues; and yet neither, as a party, has agreed upon any line of policy on the question that rises above all others—the currency question and national debt. The present con-gress, in the lower house, has been mainly engaged in reforms, while now it seems the senate will have things just as when convened, and congress will adjourn without doing anything to give relief to the laboring and toiling millions in the country now heavily burdened by oppressions and doomed still to en-dure the relentless hand of the few holdfurnish the currency to those who pay the interest, who alone are producers of products from the soil and the handiwork of artisans, mechanics, etc. How long can such bear up when values in every section are being reduced, particularly on resity, without any increased wealth in the land, without any incomes to laborers at y where? How, then, is it possible for the people to pay such high interest on the bonds of the government, and, still worse, the government currency known as the national banks, that has driven out all other circulation? I will try to raise the curtain, that the cauker a check upon the moneyed oligarchy, that he may reform the evils now upon or that soon will be upon the whole land except the fortunate few whose gain was the loss particularly of the south. I now venture suggestions to remedy the evils, since both parties, perhaps fearing loss of popularity, seem incompetent to the task of deciding on a policy in other words. The Democrats say it is for the Republican party to settie its business, meaning the finance question. The Republicans want nothing done, and if left to them it will remain just as it is. But the people caunot bear up under this oppression, for it shou'd be known by every voter-and is by many-that in no one year, or any decade of any ten years, of our nation's greatest prosperity did we increase in wealth more than four per cent. per annum; for the past five years, and the nation at peace, we have decreased in values fully twenty-five per cent. The south since the war has decreased on real values fully fifty per cent.; indeed, but little may be considered of any value or marketable at any price; our material product (cotton) is now below cost of production, hence no incomes. Still a interest on the United States bonder debt has to be paid, and if perchance any have money in currency they are paying a double interest I claim one master at a time is enough, for the bonds and currency is the same except what little greenbacks now and then is seen. Then I insist on paying the bonded debt and agreed interest, but am opposed to any one speculating on the government by buying bonds at a heavy discount, and then collecting interest semi-annually, in gold, without interest. Justice says if a one thousand-dollar bond was ourchased for five hundred dollars, at interest of six to eight par cent., including gold premium, then one and onehalf per cent. tax exemptions, makes the holder receive say eight per cent. on all bonds; and if purchased at fifty per cent. discount, they get sixteen per cent. on the original capital expended. Nor is this all. They buy up say one hundred, or more, thousand dollars of bonds and hypothecate the same with the comptroller of the currency, they get ninety per cent. in national currency, start a bank, and make any terms wanted for its use. Ten per cent , I suppose, is about the average paid annual interest, and by the very people who pays the interest on the bonds in the form of duties, stamp tax, etc. Then the producing laboring people of all classes and professions are bound to be oppressed by the favored few bondholders and national-back men. The convertion of greenbacks into bonds, with such interest and exemptions, created a monoply and consolidated the corrency, whereby this power-fer power it is-controls this day the commerce and products of the nation. If they will to bring cotton down to five cents per pound, so the manufacturers north may send fabrics to Liverpool and undersell them, they can do it! They, as all vampires, want all they can get; never respecting the wants, through their oppressions, of the toiling millions at work for them, but rather move on than relieve. Then if we wait for the Republican party to apply the remedy, it will never do it; it is hardly consistent for it to undo what has been prominent in its centralization. see no difference between a moneyed centralization and human unlimited power. We certainly now have the former, which will ere long wind up the machinery into a great dictation. Let the people take the matter in hand and invite illuminations from practical men, patriots, and lovers of a republican form of government, regardless of partisan leaders. Let a distinctive averence be made by the press and meetings of the people, by deciding upon a policy; and, my word for it, soon many of our best men-now seemingly afraid to act—will come up and give adhesion to any line of policy the great people unitedly demand. The times are too momentous J. & J. STEELE & CO., for parties to be quarrelling and criminating each other, and divided among themselves on this financial question when, it is too plain to be seen, the whole laboring masses is in bankruptcy and ruin. The writer, of course, knows one great prime mover was the oppression of the south, by deputations of carpetbag plunderings and ruin. Our ruined condition is now being divided out in other sections; our poverty forbide purchase of manufactures; consequently the price is reduced; hence, foreign ship ments of cotton fabrics to market there But on us who produce cotton the heaviest burden falls, unless Manchester is brought here in the south to compete in the markets of the world with cotton goods. My plan for the evils seen and felt by the financial and currency question is first, to wipe out every national bank in the United States, then issue for a circulating medium greenbacks, or government issue-call it by any name -in place of national currency; make this issue a legal-tender for all transacto employ others. All the physicians tions in our government; make it legal to convert, at will of holder, in United States three or four per cent. bonds, and, at will of holder, to substitute currency. This will give ample currency, to be of charge? It is a well-established fact that when a people has a surplus to sell it will bring the currency; then, if a surplus, the holder can get a reasonable interest. If a better be offered in private transactions, draw currency and inter-est, which only changes holders, but not values, possibly, at any time.
